Dissertation

Title Tracing Elements of the Rule of Law Concept in the Political Writings of Sir John Fortescue

Supervisors Dennis Coyle, Claes Ryn, Lawrence Poos

Description This dissertation examines the elements referenced by the political symbol "The Rule of Law" in common usage in modern American politics. It then examines the existence of these experiential referents in the political writing of Sir John Fortescue, tracing the continuity of experience. It examines the existence of a political symbol prior to its articulation.
